

The greatest poems written in English by women over the past 150 years, memorable masterpieces to read, reread, and enjoy

100 Essential Modern Poems by Women

Edited By Joseph Parisi and Kathleen Welton

"This is a smart, handy anthology, essential, indeed, to anyone's library."
—Billy Collins

"Through his illuminating and informative literary biographies . . . the distinguished editor and critic Joseph Parisi has encapsulated a literary age in a manner worthy of Dr. Johnson." —Paula Deitz, Editor of The Hudson Review

This wonderfully satisfying collection presents the masterpieces of forty-eight great women poets, tracing the evolution of their art in the English language over the past 150 years. Like the widely praised 100 Essential Modern Poems, this accessible volume is filled with wisdom and insights that will delight, engage, and inspire readers of any gender, age, or interests. The collection features such acclaimed poets as Emily Dickinson, Lucille Clifton, Rita Dove, Jane Kenyon, Maxine Kumin, Audre Lorde, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Marianne Moore, Mary Oliver, Dorothy Parker, Linda Pastan, Marge Piercy, Sylvia Plath, Kay Ryan, Anne Sexton, and May Swenson. But the book also turns attention once again to many fine but forgotten women poets, and includes several contemporary poets whose talents and unique points of view will surprise, stimulate, and amuse readers meeting them for the first time.

Joseph Parisi is the former longtime editor of Poetry magazine. His other books include 100 Essential Modern Poems; The Poetry Anthology, 1912–2002; Dear Editor; and Between the Lines. Kathleen Welton is a thirty-year veteran of the publishing industry and a member of the Academy of American Poets and the Poetry Society of America.
